Goldblatt Partners LLP

Toronto, Ontario

Mr. Archer is a partner at Goldblatt Partners LLP, where he advises workers, trade unions and trustees across Canada on pension and benefits, trust administration and fiduciary issues, public interest litigation, insolvencies, corporate accountability and governance. He is also counsel to the Ontario Compensation Employees union and co-director of a research center on law and political economy at Osgoode Hall Law School, where he is adjunct faculty. In 2019, he was appointed to the Pension Advisory Committee to the Board of Directors of the Financial Services Regulatory Authority, and to the advisory committee on PBGF-eligible plans. In 2016, Mr. Archer was appointed by Ontario's Minister of Finance to represent the interests of workers and unions in a review of the regulations that apply to Ontario pension funds. From 2006-2008, he served as lead researcher for the Ontario Expert Commission on Pensions.
