

Alexandre Bacon

Founder, Executive Director
Institut Ashukan
Wendake, Québec

Innu from Mashteuiatsh, Alexandre Bacon has worked for over 15 years as a trainer and strategic advisor with various organizations, particularly in the field of governance. He frequently acts as a facilitator for meetings between First Nations and Canadian organizations and is regularly invited by various media outlets to comment on current events affecting Indigenous peoples. As the founder and executive director of Institut Ashukan, he offers online training aimed at providing practical tools for individuals who wish to deepen their understanding of Indigenous history, contemporary social and political realities, as well as improve the relevance of their interventions. In doing so, he actively addresses issues related to reconciliation, systemic racism and the development of sustainable partnerships with First Nations and Inuit.
