

Nicolaus Solecki, CBDA

Associate Research Analyst
Marquette Associates, Inc.
Chicago, Illinois

Nicolaus Solecki is an associate research analyst for Marquette Associates, joining the firm in 2021. He works with asset class analysts and the director of manager research on research projects, performs asset allocation studies, and develops macroeconomic and capital markets research. Prior to joining Marquette, Solecki was a business development manager at Ford Credit and previously held several positions in financial operations, executive strategy and credit analysis. He served in the United States Marine Corps from 2009 through 2013 with expeditionary and combat deployments. As part of the 1st Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, he deployed to Afghanistan in 2012 as a foreign military advisor team and infantry squad leader. Solecki holds a B.S. degree in international economic relations from Cracow University of Economics and a B.A. degree in international relations from Grand Valley State University. He earned the Certificate in Blockchain and Digital AssetsSM issued by the Digital Assets Council of Financial Professionals and is a member of the DACFP.