

Allison Tremblay

Partner

Victory Square Law Office LLP
Vancouver, British Columbia

Allison Tremblay (she/her) is a labour, employment, and human rights lawyer and partner with Victory Square Law Office (VSLO). She represents a number of jointly trusted and employee-trusted pension and benefit plans. Tremblay also represents clients before the labour relations board, arbitrators, human rights and other administrative tribunals, mediators, and the British Columbia and federal courts and advises unions on internal and constitutional matters. She has particular interest in assisting persons from historically disadvantaged groups including LGBTQ2S and BIPOC. Tremblay is a member of the Canadian Bar Association, the Canadian Association of Labour Lawyers, and the Canadian Pension and Benefits Institute. She holds a B.A. degree from Simon Fraser University and an LL.B. degree from the University of British Columbia.